A Message from the
Lieutenant Governor of Prince Edward Island
c/o Mr. Adam Wagstaffe (adam.wagstaffe2014@gmail.com)

Greetings to all,

Many aviators from Canada, Australia, the United Kingdom, New Zealand and other countries lost their lives when war broke out across our world. Their families, friends, and communities mourned their losses. Lives were forever changed.

The memories of past conflicts, and the sacrifices made by veterans, must be passed down to future generations. By learning from history, we are reminded to treasure and prioritize unity, peace, and understanding among nations.

It is heartening that people are getting together in the island country of Malta to remember the sacrifices of the 458 RAAF Squadron and Warrant Officer (2) Allison F.W. Macleod from Breadalbane, Prince Edward Island. These islands are on opposite sides of the Atlantic, however our peoples were all affected by the tragic impacts of war.

Thank you for gathering in remembrance of those who have made the ultimate sacrifice on behalf of their nations. Thank you to those sharing their stories so we may pass on their legacies well into the future. I commend you all for your efforts to honour our armed forces members, past and present.

Sincerely,

Honourable Dr. Wassim Salamoun
Lieutenant Governor of Prince Edward Island
