TO THE NATIONAL CAPITAL: 458 IN CANBERRA.

A Squadron party from the New South Wales Flight has spent a week-end in Canberra. The excursion was planned as the second N.S.W. Country Reunion, in succession to the very highly enjoyed Orange Reunion held last year. The Committee felt a little bashful in using the word 'Country' about the Australian Capital but no one in Canberra appeared to feel offended.

The Reunion was held on the weekend in October preceding the long weekend for which Canberra hotels were booked out. 458 stayed at the Ainsley-Rex Hotel, and was very comfortable. Leaving on Friday and after a drive of about five hours from Sydney, metropolitan members arrived about 5.00 p.m. They were met and welcomed by 458ers living in Canberra, including Col. Pereal, Harry Galvin, Bill Hamilton, and Keith Austin. A very substantial amount of beer was put away—of course—during the evening. They noted incidentally that hotels in Canberra seem to be doing a much bigger bar trade than many Sydney hotels are currently achieving. The large "New Australian" element in Canberra was also noticeable.

On Saturday morning, the party had a look round the City area and the residential suburbs and visited Canberra members' homes. The party now consisted of the following: Alf. Hammond and his family; Eric Munkman and his family; Sam Barlow, Fred Strom, Noel Spurling, Peter Alexander, Bob Bruce, Bob Lyndon accompanied by Pat. Bob Smith and his wife Rose and Pat Burgess from Newcastle; Len Adams from Gundagai; Harry and Nita Baines came over from Cooma later. Canberra is growing fast. It is a scattered 'Garden City' made attractive by being planted with a multitude of trees. Parliament House, the War Memorial, the growing National University are prominent and impressive.

New bungalows are peopling the fast-spreading residential suburbs. Near the Civic shopping area, which is growing too and is attractive, several multi-storey large blocks of flats are going up. This writer did not like their design but they will cope with a multitude of housing problems. It was fine sunny, crisp-cool, weather. After a drive around, we sat in the sun and had some drinks in the open-air Beer Garden at the Ainsley-Rex.

After lunch the organised programme began. We had a quick tour round the national War Museum, very impressed with it, though noticing that the R.A.A.F. exhibits were relatively small and references to 458 Squadron non-existent. We might try to do something about that. From there to the American War Monument, a lofty thin metal column surmounted by the American eagle. It appeared to be of aluminium. Thence to Parliament House where the Party saw the House of Representatives and the Senate chambers and were treated to the patter of the Parliamentary attendant.

Then to the Australian National University, where Bill Hamilton is the Bursar. Bill gave us a most interesting tour in the John Curtin School of Medicine and in the School of Physics. We had a close look at the two atom-smashing machines, one in being the other being constructed.

That evening there was a dinner-dance at the hotel. An attractive small room, a large and cheerful party of Squadron friends added up to an enjoyable evening.

On Tuesday, the 458 party drove out to the Cotter Dam. Here the Cotter river is dammed to provide the city's water supply. There is a water spillway from the high dam down to the continuing river which flows through a wooded picnic area. Here the Canberra 458ers and their wives had arranged a barbecue. Steaks, sausages and chops were cooked and eaten in great quantities. The barbecue was the high point and culmination of the Reunion which, itself, as someone commented represented—like earlier Country Reunions—one of the best things 458 has to offer its members.

And so, with warmest thanks to 458ers of the A.C.T., homewards by car. We shall meet together again.
NICK BERTRAM’S PASSING IN GLIDER CRASH.

His Squadron contemporaries and the many 458ers who met him during the last five All-States Reunions, all of which he attended, will be deeply affected to learn of his death in a Glider crash near Murray Bridge in South Australia.

Nick served in the United Kingdom and the Middle East with the Squadron. He flew with ‘Dizzy’ Dean as an Air Gunner. After leaving 458 he remustered as a pilot.

In peacetime he had an Engineering business near Adelaide. He leaves a widow and a young son. 458’s deep sympathy to them.

Ron Badger writes: Nick was a very popular member of the S.A. Flight Committee and had the experience of attending All-States Reunions in every capital city.

Peter, he was a successful speedway rider and rode with a coolness which impressed all who knew him.

Of quiet disposition but with a keen sense of humour Nick, after the war formed his own Engineering works and by hard work made it a successful venture.

He built a really beautiful caravan for the family to get away on weekends to relax. He also took up glider flying at a newly formed Club at Murray Bridge which he enjoyed to the full becoming a capable glider pilot exercising the same cool unfurled manner of his earlier speedway days.

His Air Force career, his gliding and also his keen loyalty to 458 all speak of his love of flying and the air. His friends are all rather inclined to think that if Nick had to go, he would rather go at his old love of flying than in any other way.

Perhaps one of the best ways of judging a man’s standing among his fellows is to attend his funeral and the 15 458ers at Nick’s were a very small part of the biggest attended funeral I have been to. We shall always remember Nick as a good citizen, a good husband, a good father, a good worker for both his family and the community and lastly as a good 458er.

Stuart Nickett, who was Nick’s contemporary, also writes: I read the news of Nick Bertram’s death in a glider accident on 17.10.59 with the deepest regret.

I knew him for many years, dating back to our training days commencing in April 1940 when we were on course with W.A.G. School, Ballarat, No. 1 Course. Eventually we met again in the Middle East. 458 had quite a few from that Course on strength. Tote Peace, Wozzie Wurr, Jim McKay, Nick Bertram, the late John Scott, and Jim Brown—and possibly others that I can’t think of at this moment.

During the Sydney All-States Reunion I had the pleasure of accommodating Nick at my home, quite a memorable reunion that will stay in the mind for many years to come.

My deepest sympathy goes to his wife and son.

VICTORIAN VIEWS.

Preparations for the All-States Reunion. Our activities have had the two main objectives of building Flight strength and building up our position in preparation for the coming Melbourne All-States Reunion next April. The most recent function was a gathering at Ian Alison’s home in late September. Despite a very wet evening, we had a very pleasant time and also managed to add a bit to Squadron funds. Among those attending, with their wives or friends, were Jack Seastay, Don Johns, Bill and Mary Carr, Harry Ashworth and Ken Guinney and their wives, John Bilyen’s wife (John himself was ill), Ron Russell and wife and, of course, Ian and his wife.

Social Dance and the Annual Ballot. We held this function somewhat earlier on Friday, June 26th. The Dance was highly successful. Attendance was in the sixties—not all members, of course. We were able to advance finances by over £40 as a combined result of donations, raffles and "door". Briefly, those members present were: Harry Ashworth, Ian Alison, John Bilyen, Eddie Bradshaw, Bill Bailey, Bill Carr, Arthur Green, John Jenkins, Don Johnson, Yank Martin, Jim Munday, Ron Russell, Bob Sherrah, Nick Singe, Lyle Wurr, Frank Wilson, Tony Stone, In almost all cases they were accompanied by their wives and a small party of friends.

Members were particularly pleased to see Nick Singe and his wife along. Nick is shop-fitting around the suburbs and is not often seen (except for his regular Anzac attendance). Nick was unable to dance, as the result of a "crook leg" as he put it but was able to enjoy the evening nevertheless.

Doug Colquhoun in Contact Again. Doug Colquhoun has made contact again. He has had quite a rough time. Originally travelling, he had to abandon all work for Victorian Views (cont.)—About two years owing to consistent ill-health. However, over the past five years he has been able to hold down a clerical desk with the Repatriation Dept., and, from appearances he is now well on the way to becoming 'mended'. His son is a leading footballer, playing full back for Williamstown, a leading Association Club. We are grateful to Doug for his donation of a set of kitchen knives which we raffled, bringing in $10.

Water Colours of the Wellington—Ian Alison, who is a commercial artist, brought along to the Dance an excellent water colour of a Wellington. This now belongs to Harry Ashworth. Ian has offered to do one to be raffled: also, he is prepared to take commissions at $5, if anybody is interested. I have bought one and can say that they are well worth having. Ian will do them either in black or white and with letter identification as required.

Donations from members:

We particularly wish to acknowledge the following, received in response to a request for help in building up Flight funds again:

Jack Ramsay £1-0-0; Ken Brown £3-10-0; Doug Colquhoun £10-2-0; Ron Russell and Tony Stone 10/- each; Arthur Green £5-0-0; Cec Percy 1-5-0; Bob Pollock £2-10-0; Dave Firth £5-0-0; Keith Clymo £1-5-0.

The Victorian Committee:

Ron Russell and Tony Stone were both attending their first Victorian function since moving to Melbourne. We promptly elected them to the Committee which is now the following:

- President: Lyle Warr,
- Senior Vice President: Norm Cugley,
- Junior Vice President: John Jenkins,
- and Treasurer: Bill Curtin,
- Secretary: Gordon Orchard, Don Johnson, Jim Munday, Ron Russell,
- Bill Bailey, Tony Stone, Ian Alison, Yank Martin, John Bilney, Arthur Green.

Frank Wilson declined to become a regular committee man but agreed to remain as "Picnic man".

Personal Fars: Victorian personalities are included under the Personalities column. But while we think of it we must add the names of Cec Percy and Gordon Guthbertson, both with their wives, to the list of those attending the Social-Dance.

Squadron Tree-Planting: Point Cook would seem to be the most likely place for our Memorial Tree. We are looking into this.

Going, Going. . . . .

The second impression of "We Find and Destroy" which came into our hands in September is now over three-fifths sold. At the moment of writing, sales are 280 through bookshops and 59 direct to buyers. The sales through the bookshops have been, as between States:

- N.S.W. 119;
- Victoria 60;
- South Aust. 36;
- Queensland 28;
- Tasmania 21;
- West Aust. 13;
- Canberra 3.

As far as we know, the only Australian Capital city daily to have published a full review of the book is the Adelaide Advertiser. The Advertiser was very kind, couldn’t have been more so, which since we neither exercised nor had the smallest "pull" with them, was gratifying.

The review was headed with a reproduction of the picture of Colonel McKenzie which is one of the book’s illustrations and the words "Bomber Squadron’s Gallant Exploits" Thereafter (we quote)

"458 Squadron was the product of the famous Empire Air Training Scheme in "Canada. Equipped with Wellingtons it was officially formed on July 10th 1941.  "Its personnel was mixed, being composed of Australians, British, a few men from "Canada and New Zealand, and some Australians already serving with the R.A.F. These "included the first two commanders.

"The squadron made its first raids from a Yorkshire aerodrome—Rhole-on- "Spalding Moor.

"Moved to the Middle East, the squadron carried the fight to the enemy with "outstanding efficiency, courage and success, flying in Palestine, North Africa, "Malta, Sardinia, Italy, Southern France, Corsica, Sicily and Gibraltar.

"Under a superb leader, Lt-Col. B. McKenzie, BSQ, DFC and bar, 458 Squadron "became the terror of enemy shipping, and finally ran out of ships to attack!"
"But the Squadron's fame was won at high cost. More than 100 officers and other ranks lost their lives in establishing a great tradition.
THING. (The author) has clearly been to great pains in his research and has "told the grand story of his squadron vividly.
"The book is well illustrated with action photographs."—H.D.B.

CORNSTALK COMMENTS

from Bob Bruce (Mt. Wilga, Manor Rd., Hornsby, N.S.W.)

N.S.W. in Canberra—Comment first of all must be on the wonderful Country Reunion over the weekend 25–27th. September last. Due to no small measure to the Canberra members of the Squadron, Col. Peredee, Bill Hamilton, Keith Austin, and Harry Calvin, the weekend was a tremendous success; plenty of time for individual sight-seening and then the organised tour high-lighting in an inspection of the National University, was indeed something to be remembered. The barbecue at the Cotter Dam was held in glorious settings, and from there people started homewards.

Sidelights to mention a few:

Sam Barlow again running out of petrol, and reckoning he had a lousy crew of navigators. Yes, and Eric Hunkman ran out of petrol again too.

Freddy Strom and Blue Spurling's tour of the Civic Centre. What a beauty and no charlies.

Alf Hammond asking Nine Host on Sunday morning if he could have a drink and, on the Publican agreeing, being followed in by some 20 blokes all wanting a hair of the tail.

Harry Baines look of amazement when Sam and party decided to make a slight detour on the way to Canberra—via Cowra— to persuade him to come along. While Sam persuaded Fred Strom took care of the bar fly.

Cricket—A cricket match was held on 15th. October when the 458 team, getting more rugged as the years roll on, used a heap of a lot of unused muscles in just defeating a team of members from the Kissing Point Social Club. Keith Miller strolled over for a few minutes—goodness knows what he thought of the cricket.

Golf:—The President's Cup day was held at Wallsend on 25th. October and the field was small. However they all enjoyed it. Bob Miller played very good golf—89 off the stick (13 strokes better than the next man!) to carry off the Cup and the Day's honours.

The Invenimus Club and its Competition.— Due to the printer's delays and consequential late despatch of books this competition was not as good a financial success as in previous years. However it wasn't too bad. Congratulations to the winners who were:

1st. V. Stewart........................ sold by F. Strom
2nd. J. P. Welsh............................. A. Lawford
3rd. Mrs. Bryant............................ Henry Bryant.

Social Picnic day at Mt. Wilga

The grounds of the Rehabilitation Centre at Hornsby were the centre of another Social day. 458ers and their families played tennis, and bowls and pionced. There was a keg. The evening finished in Bob and Betty Bruce's flat where the girls put on supper and we drank a few more.

Christmas Social Planning is to have a Social-Dance at Christmas at the Air Force Club on the evening of December 16th. You will be notified.

Snow Atherton passes through

Snow, who has sold his property in North Queensland recently down to Sydney with his family and embarked on an Orient liner for a Pacific cruise. Some of us said him though not as many as wanted to. However he is going to send us a cable when the ship is nearing Sydney on its return and we will organise something then. December is the month.

Christmas Greetings to you.

To 458 members and their families wherever they may be ---a very merry Christmas and the best of everything in 1960 from the R.S.I. Flight.

Apart from the Social evening, 458ers are invited to have a quiet Christmas dinner together in the Air Force Club, 930, George Street, on Friday December 18th from 5.00 on.
THE CAME VIA AIR...from Bill Taylor (26, Pirie St, Adelaide).

The Annual Picnic. We are again going to National Park, Bulair, for our Annual Children's Picnic on 8th November 1966, when rather "Flash" Thomas Christmas will preside over the Toy Department. These annual events are very popular and every year our numbers increase.

455 Squadron Plants a Memorial Tree. Several members of 455 Squadron attended the Tree Planting Ceremony of 455 Squadron, which now makes the fourth tree to be planted near the West Beach Airport Kingsford Smith Memorial. This area will become a Squadron Corner, as about a dozen trees have been planted and may be taken over by other Squadrons.

Those who Passed by. We have been fortunate in seeing the following people in Adelaide: Eric Lloyd, Norman Harris (a friend of Colonel McKenzie), Arthur Green, Jack Atkin, Jim Perry and Ian Snowell, all of whom stopped in to see "Hullo"

Nick Bertram. The whole Squadron will be sorry to hear of the untimely death of Nick Bertram who was recently killed in a glider accident. There is little doubt that Nick's death was due to some other cause than his flying, as the aircraft performed strange evolutions. It appears that Nick was probably ill in the air. Wreaths were laid by 456 Squadron (S.A. Flight) and 458 Squadron Council. Nick's passing leaves a gap in the Squadron which can never be filled. The Squadron carried out the last Honours at the Funeral.

MR. NORMAN HARRIS, M.L.C.
458 in most Flights has recently had the pleasure of meeting and entertaining Mr. Norman Harris, M.L.C., Minister without Portfolio (in charge of Security), from Kenya. Mr. Harris was in Australia for the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association Conference in Canberra. He is an ex-R.A.F. man and a great personal friend of Bruce McKenzie (who is also a Kenya Minister). In Sydney, the R.S.W. President and Vice President, and the Editor had dinner with him and, with the Squadron Treasurer, Eric Hunksman, spent a pleasant evening with him in the Air Force Club. He gave us the latest McKenziana. It was a pleasure to meet him.

VALE, GEOFFREY COLDHAM. The News deeply regrets to announce the passing of another 458er.

Geoffrey Coldham of Molesworth, Victoria. He was 54 and died after a relatively short illness. Geoff enlisted in the R.A.A.F. in 1940 and came to 458.

After the war he purchased a property at Molesworth where he entered wholeheartedly into district affairs. He was Secretary of the Molesworth Fire Brigade (giving the land on which to house the Brigade's motor unit) and Secretary and Trustee of the Molesworth Recreation Reserve. He was a member of the Yeoman branch of the Caversham Association and the Yeoman sub-branch of the Returned Soldiers League.

After a Funeral Service at St. John's Church, Poorak, conducted by Dean Roscoe Wilson, the funeral at Brighton Cemetery was conducted under the offices of an R.A.A.F. Padre, S/Ldr. Noe. Our sympathy to his widow and two sons.

Mrs. Coldham writes: Basil Wheatley used to send Geoff, the Squadron News which he enjoyed so much. We came to Molesworth in 1945. Geoff was in hospital with a malignant tumour of the brain, having had it for 15 years or more according to 3 leading neuro-surgeons. He gave no sign of anything abnormal until a few months before his death and then only by loss of memory and getting upset about small things going wrong on the property. The week before he died Basil came to the hospital with the Squadron History for him to read but he was too ill. Geoff knew Jim Munlay well. Only clearing out his desk I came across a copy of "Lagos Lagoon". Geoff was so proud of 458.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

GORDON ORCHARD has our congratulations on the birth of his third daughter (Deborah Jane). He has a printing business in Melbourne which keeps him very busy. Bill Carr writes that Gordon still shews no sign of the March of Time.

STAN TARCOCH:SK has been with the Melbourne AGE. We understand he is understudying the Circulation Manager of that organisation.

ARTHUR CLAYTON who is tailoring in Melbourne asks to be remembered to the boys;
HUTTON ARMSTRONG is Sales Manager for a Melbourne Real Estate firm. He lives at Canterbury with his family. He has a boy of 10 and a girl of 7½. He was formerly in the Office Equipment business. He wants to be remembered;

JACK "TITCH" RAMSAY is with the P.N.G.'s Department where we understand he is doing very well;

BILL CARR, the Victorian Secretary is with Kodaks in Melbourne. Sends good wishes to Pete Campbell and Lofty Chalmers;

After leaving 458 he spent some years during the war in England. After the war he spent some further years in China before moving to Canberra.

THE BRITISH BULLETIN from Sid Thompsett (369, Downham Way, Bromley, Kent)

We were glad to receive a Squadron Pennant as well as a tape recording from Australia. I must say I thought the Pennant was very good though I would have liked to see the Squadron emblem on both sides.

Ken Russell in London, Ken Russell is now with us for a short spell. He is relieving the Manager at the London office of the Adelaide Steamship Company. Leo Armstrong phoned me to say he was over here, so I arranged a welcome for him. Seven of us managed to make it and we had a very enjoyable evening. There were Leo Armstrong, Harry Bishop, Sid Thompsett, Eric Brown, Mick Mason, Mick Tombs, and, of course, Ken Russell. Ken said it was like the All-States Reunion at Adelaide. When we were making our ways home Ken had to catch the last train from St. Pancras at 11.30 and at 11.15 we were still at Trafalgar Square. Mick thereupon took Ken in his car and I have heard from Ken telling me that he made the last train (only just) with Mick literally taking him right up to the train in his car. Ken is hoping to be here for our Reunion in November.

The 458 History: I have heard from everyone who purchased a copy, and they all say how very pleased they are with it. One comment I must pass on. It goes:— "What a grand achievement on the part of Peter Alexander. Indeed, I think we must hand "it to the Aussies for their unselfish enthusiasm shown at their Reunions and the like."

I felt I had to mention that one.

Various: I had a very nice letter from Jim Holliday thanking the U.K. Flight for their telegram at the last All-States Reunion. Thank you, Jim.

Bill Frater (bog pardon, W/O Frater) has been posted to Cyprus for a 2½ year spell.

Hoping you are all in the best of health.

CORRESPONDENCE: Letters to the Editor and others.

Dear Pete,

The arrival of 458's book prompts me to write at length at last. I've always wanted to know what 458 did prior to my becoming part of the 'organisation'. It made very good reading and left me feeling very proud of having served with you all.

I joined 458, complete with R.A.F. issue topee at Alghero (burying the topee next day) as a spare W.O.A.G. I was soon crewed up with Cruncher (or was it Cramer) Jones, R.A.A.F., until he went home, and then with Harry Smith, R.A.F.

I shan't forget my first ops as rear gunner. I couldn't make out what the "floating red balls" were until the Nav. yelled "Dive, Skipper! There's b...flak just behind us!"

I was on the Falconara Detachment, becoming good friends with Curly Brunn, Son Anderson, and Eric Johnson of Jack Bitchen's crew, who I flew with occasionally. In fact,
Correspondence (cont.)

I see from my log book that I flew with Jack and with Jimmy Whittem on five ops. and eleven other skippers on air tests, nav. exercises, etc. I always enjoyed being airborne. I played in that game of rugby near Joei against the N.Z. and also hockey for the Squadron at Gibraltar.

I am still serving with the R.A.F. In 1954 I was lucky enough to be awarded the "Queens' Commendation for valuable service in the air" but a year later my flying days finished. I was grounded with alleged "ficker trouble". Still play rugby though.

I am now in Cyprus with the telecom side and still hope I might get an Aussie posting one day. Nearest so far was Ceylon in 1949 with 1903 Nat Pt, flying Fristal Bragans.

I thoroughly enjoy the U.K. Reunions and the 458 newsletters; and, in ending, thanks for a wizard book and regards to Curly, Eric, Don, Jack Kiles and any others who may recall the pony. Good luck, yours, Bill Prater.

From Mr. J. G. Anderson, 16 Elm Street, Surrey Hills, Victoria.

Dear Sir,

Enclosed a cheque for copy of "We Find and Destroy" and at same time I take this opportunity of inquiring if you or any member of your Council could give me the addresses of any Victorians or others who knew or served with my late son — W.O. Donald Albert Anderson. He lost his life on April 8th 1944. I have been unable to contact any of his former comrades and would like to keep in touch with 458 of which we have heard so little.

yours faithfully,

J. G. Anderson.

(Ed. This has been answered).

From F. R. Smith, 640, Larrie Avenue, Clovelly Park, S.A.

Dear Sir,

I was interested to hear that your Council has published a history of 458 Bomber Squadron. I would like to obtain a copy. My late brother Sgt. Peter Harold Smith, R.A.A.F. served with 458 Squadron stationed at Holme-on-Spalding Moor, and was killed on active service on January 9th, 1942. His grave is in the War Cemetery, Brookwood, Surrey.

yours faithfully,

F. R. Smith.

From Mrs. P. Hacking, 15 Harslett Crescent, Kogarah, N.S.W.

Dear Sir,

While sitting at my doctor's surgery, I found a copy of "Wings". I came across a notice of your book "We Find and Destroy". I should appreciate it if you would forward me a copy as my son who was on 460 Squadron was attached to 458 All-Australian Squadron just prior to being killed in an aircraft accident. He was the rear air gunner of his crew but do not know if any of them ever came back. He was Flt. Sgt. Reginald George Cox, 402599, R.A.A.F. When visiting my son's grave 10 years ago they could not give me any details as to what happened. The Harrogate people have a women's organisation whereby they have adopted each boy's grave. They write to you and ask your wishes. Nine was flowers for his Birthday and the anniversary of his death. If any of the boys would like to see photos of the graves and the monument I would be only too pleased to lend them.

yours sincerely,

P. Hacking.

(Ed. Will any friends of Reg Cox please contact?)

From Bill Wilkinson, I4, Norfolk Crescent, Sandy Bay, Hobart, Tasmania.

Dear Peter,

Thank you for your letter and copy of the History which has certainly revived memories.

Yes, I have been on the Division Executive Committee of the Air Force Association for a few years now and we have a very strong branch of the A.F.A. in Hobart, Launceston and Burnie plus an excellent Club at the A.F.A. Memorial Centre at Hobart.

I was pleased to have news of Bev. Wallace and Ray McDougall. Jim Whittem was down here last year at a Vet. Conference held at a Mountain Lodge and poor Jim had snow all round him for a week which was a change from Alice Springs. He appeared to enjoy it.

I would like to suggest that Hobart be the venue for the Annual Squadron Conference — perhaps in 1961. I have received an assurance from the A.F.A. Secretary Les. Evans (who I think you know) that Hobart could turn on all that is required for a Conference. Hotel bookings are no trouble; the ferry to Devonport can bring members across with cars and as for entertainment. Les Evans has kindly stated that the Club would be available for the Conference, and for social activities. In addition I am sure we can arrange get-togethers at a few homes.
Correspondence (cont.) and for the golfers there is ample scope. In fact I am sure we can make a Tasmanian Conference a memorable one and I should be happy to assist in every way. I shall be interested to hear of the decision of Council in due course. Perhaps I may have the opportunity of seeing you in Melbourne next year.

Kind regards,
Bill Wilkinson.

(EDITOR. The Squadron Secretary particularly asks Flight Committees to give the idea of a Tasmanian All-States Reunion their consideration between now and the April Conference.)

From Dave Thompson, I6 Maize Street, Plymby, Maryport, Cumberland, England to Stan Parker, Ayr, North Queensland.

In Part.

Dear Stan,

I want to say many thanks for the Squadron book "We Find and Destroy". You've no idea how thrilled I was. The first thing I did was to scan through it for the old once familiar names—some which had slipped my memory—but what memories they brought back! I opened the book at random at first and believed it or not, at page 86 W.A.G. Stan Parker caught my eye, along with P.O. Prior and F/Lt. Cousins. But page 130 was even a bigger thrill when I saw my name coupled with yours relating to the mail.

Never for one moment did I think I would get an honourable mention. Margaret and Audrey think its ever so grand that their Dad's name is mentioned in a book. The family didn't dare talk to me until I had finished reading it. I see W/C. Johnston disbelieves the part where the snow was sitting on the tops of the Egyptian hills. Well, he probably wasn't in the vicinity at the time but I remember it quite well. Peter certainly made a good job of the story, and the way its written in parts just reminds me of the way he talked. I would have liked to see more pictures—your own for instance and F/Lt. Vale's. My old friend Caesar Baird shows up well, also the "Major", W/O Laming, "Slappy" Hammond. Now I'm in the mood I could go on writing for ever.....Its kind of unsettled me reading this and I feel I want to pick up and fly to Australia and relive that comradeship all over again. I wonder if I'll ever make it—time's creeping on.

Again, many thanks,
David.

EDITORIAL.

Can 458 produce any wartime mementoes, souvenirs, trophies which are of a sort to be acceptable to the Australian War Museum in Canberra? There is currently no trace of 458 to be seen there. There are old war torn ensigns, models of aircraft, plaques, emblems of many sorts and from various Squadrons but none of 458. Can we rectify this? Will you please write to us if you have anything you feel would be what is wanted. Don't send it to us yet. Let us know about it and after we have found out the Museum's reaction, we will let you know. One thing which occurs to us, if it still exists, as being "the sort of thing" is the notice which stood at the side of the Froville road and read "McKENZIE'S AIR FORCE".

What happened to that? Incidentally, we don't think doing it again for this purpose would be quite the thing.
